

#5: MC's Frozen Here in Time Journal

Introduction

People say that “a picture is worth a thousand words.”

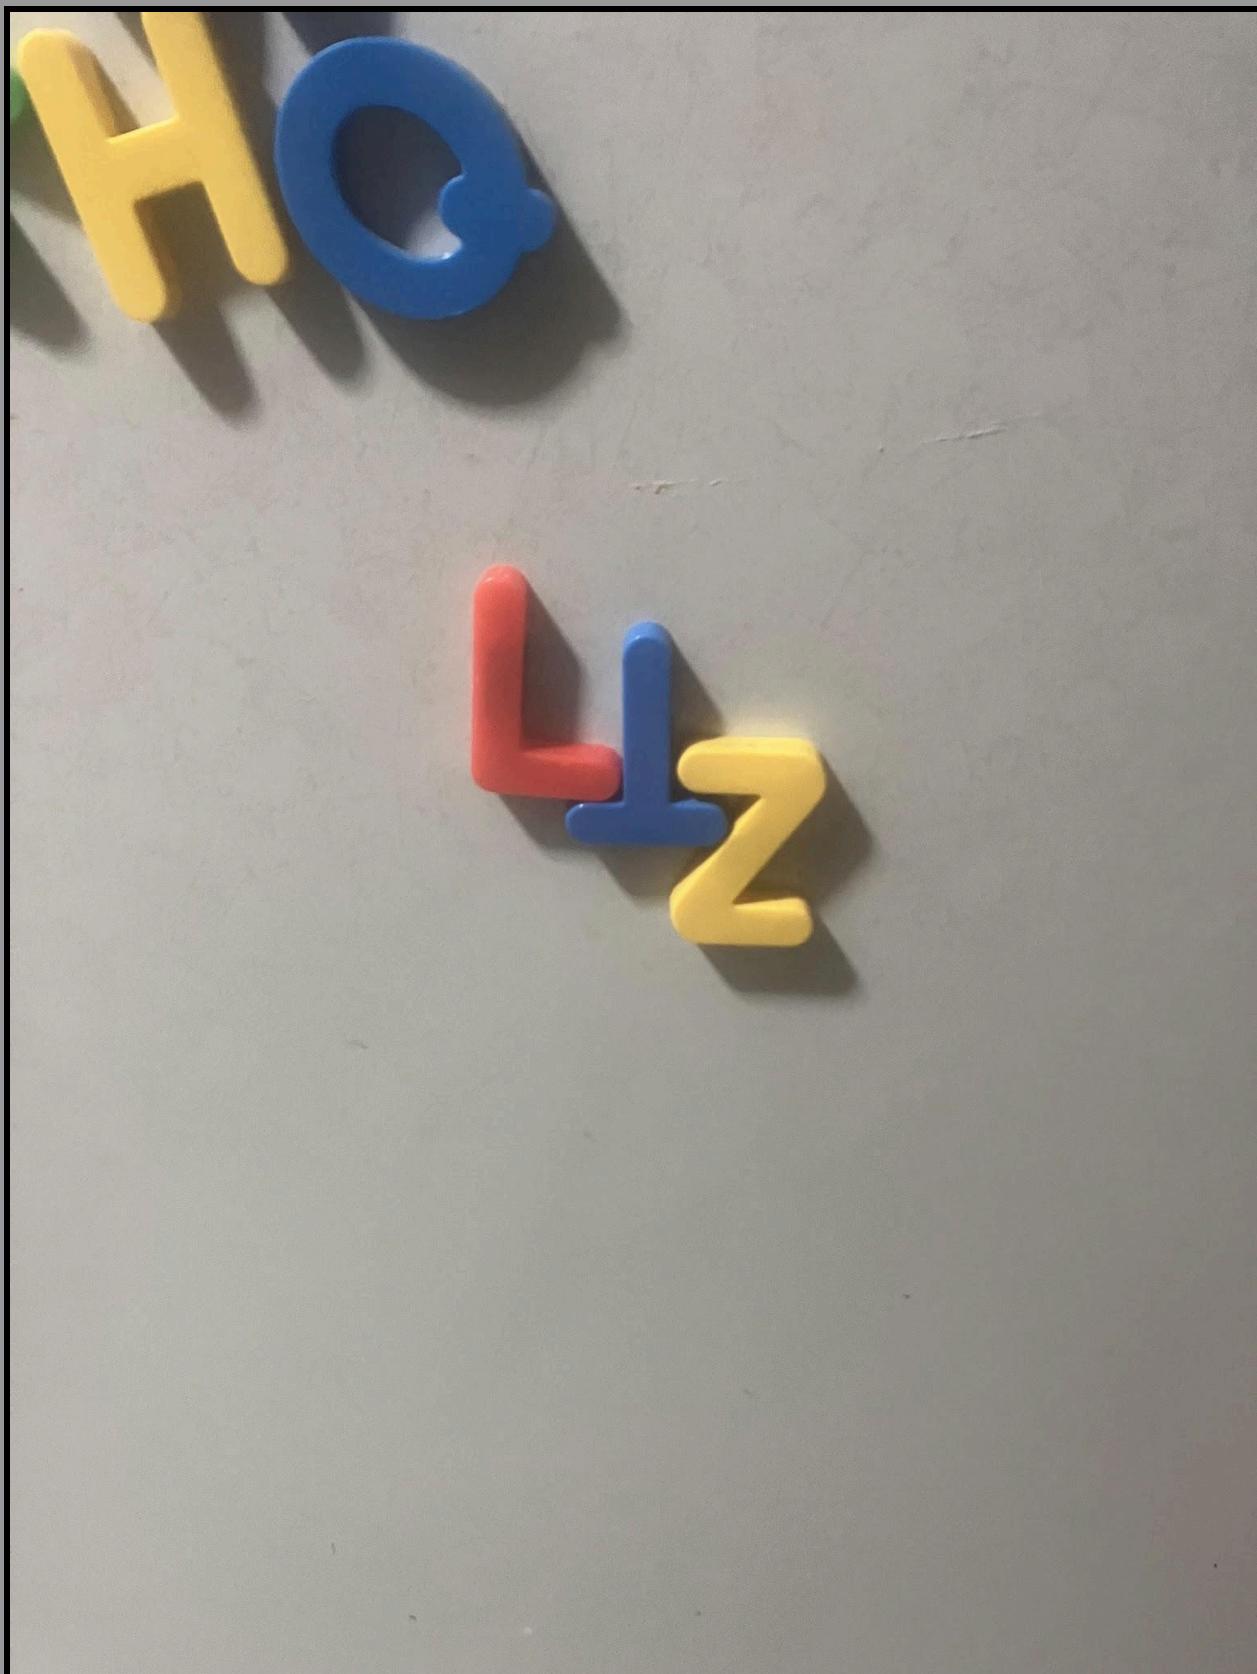

Well, here's to saying a lot of words in a grand journey to find my constellations then in 24 photos.

All of them taken from the days before and after the Castle's construction. Some of them are edited and some are not. Each of them holding a special place in my heart and adventure.

Welcome to the tour of the Castle's natural murals.

Outro

It may be words or it may be pictures. It may be music or it may be videos. No matter what the medium is, the process is the same.

Whole constellations of stars sometimes freeze then manifest themselves into something else entirely, keeping their core but evolving still.

This time into a whole chorus of glorious music and sounds.

New music coming next.
